

PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD'S DECISION

APPELLANT: Trajan Kavalin
DOCKET NO.: 05-24389.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 18-16-101-023-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Trajan Kavalin, the appellant, by attorney Rusty A. Payton of the Law Offices of Rusty A. Payton, P.C., Chicago, Illinois; and the Cook County Board of Review.

The subject property consists of a 32-year old, one-story dwelling of masonry construction containing 1,437 square feet of living area with a full, unfinished basement, central air conditioning, and a two car garage.

The appellant submitted evidence before the Property Tax Appeal Board claiming unequal treatment in the assessment process as the basis of the appeal. In support of the equity argument, the appellant submitted a grid analysis detailing four suggested comparable properties and Exhibit 1 listing three additional comparables. The appellant's map indicates the comparables listed on the grid analysis are located in close proximity to the subject. The comparables are one-story or one and one-half story frame, masonry, or frame and masonry dwellings that are 50 to 60 years old. One comparable has an unfinished basement and three comparables have no basements. Two comparables have central air conditioning and fireplaces. Their living areas are from 1,683 to 1,766 square feet in size, and have improvement assessments of $13.44 to $13.64 per square foot. The additional comparables are 1,154 to 1,680 square feet in size and have improvement assessments of $13.69 to $13.76 per square foot. The subject property has an improvement assessment of $18.81 per square foot. Based on this evidence, the appellant requested a reduction in the subject's improvement assessment.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" wherein the subject's final assessment was disclosed. In support of the subject's assessment, the board of review offered the property characteristic sheets and a spreadsheet detailing four suggested comparable properties located on the same block or one to three blocks from the subject. The comparable properties consist of one-story masonry dwellings that are 44 to 55 years old with central air conditioning. One comparable has a full, finished basement; one comparable has a partial, finished basement; one comparable has a partial, unfinished basement; and one comparable has a slab foundation. Two comparables have fireplaces. One comparable has a one car garage, one comparable has a one and one-half car garage, one comparable has a two car garage, and one comparable has a two and one-half car garage. The dwellings contain 960 to 1,342 square feet of living area and have improvement assessments of $19.01 to $19.94 per square foot. Based on this evidence, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

After reviewing the record and considering the evidence, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal. The Property Tax Appeal Board further finds that a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted. The appellant's argument was unequal treatment in the assessment process. The Illinois Supreme Court has held that taxpayers who object to an assessment on the basis of lack of uniformity bear the burden of proving the disparity of assessment valuations by clear and convincing evidence. Kankakee County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 131 Ill.2d 1 (1989). The evidence must demonstrate a consistent pattern of assessment inequities within the assessment jurisdiction. After an analysis of the assessment data, the Board finds the appellant has not overcome this burden.

Both parties presented assessment data on a total of eleven equity comparables. The appellant's comparables were significantly older than the subject. Comparables two, three, and four differed from the subject in foundation. Comparable one differed from the subject in design. Comparables one, two, and four differed from the subject in exterior construction. The additional comparables on appellant's Exhibit 1 had no descriptive information about the comparables for the Board to analyze. The board of review's comparables two, three, and four were significantly older than the subject. Comparable four was substantially smaller than the subject and differed from the subject in foundation. As a result, they received reduced weight in the Board's analysis. The board of review's comparable one was the most similar to the subject in location, age, and physical characteristics. This comparable had an improvement assessment of $19.01 per square foot and supports the subject's improvement assessment of $18.81 per square foot. After considering adjustments and the differences in both parties' suggested comparables when compared to the subject property, the Board finds the subject's per square foot assessment is supported by the most comparable properties contained in the record and a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

As a result of this analysis, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds the appellant has adequately demonstrated that the subject dwelling was inequitably assessed by clear and convincing evidence and a reduction is not warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
