

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE DECISION
ILLINOIS PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD

APPELLANT: Don Baker
DOCKET NO.: 07-23327.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 05-28-401-012-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Don Baker, the appellant, by attorney James E. Doherty, of Thomas M. Tully & Associates in Chicago, and the Cook County Board of Review.

Based on the facts and exhibits presented, the Property Tax Appeal Board hereby finds no change in the assessment of the property as established by the Cook County Board of Review is warranted. The correct assessed valuation of the property is:

LAND: $ 37,380
IMPR.: $ 103,776
TOTAL: $ 141,156

Subject only to the State multiplier as applicable.

ANALYSIS

The subject property is improved with a two-story dwelling of masonry construction. The dwelling is 82 years old and contains 2,614 square feet of living area. Features of the home include a partial unfinished basement, central air conditioning, a fireplace, and a one-car detached garage. The subject is classified as a class 2-06 residential property¹ under the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classification Ordinance and is located in Kenilworth, New Trier Township, Cook County.

The appellant's appeal is based on unequal treatment in the assessment process and contention of law. The appellant submitted information on five suggested comparable properties described as two-story dwellings of masonry or frame and masonry construction.² The comparable properties have the same assigned classification and neighborhood codes as the subject. One of the comparables is located across the street from the subject, and another is on the same tax block as the subject. The comparable dwellings are from 70 to 82 years old and contain from 3,038 to ¹ Class 2-06 is a two or more story residence, over 62 years of age, 2,201 to 4,999 square feet.

² Four of the five comparables were listed on the appellant's grid analysis. The appellant also submitted a property characteristic sheet for a fifth comparable property.

4,416 square feet of living area. Two dwellings have partial finished basements, and three have unfinished basements, either full or partial. Each comparable has a garage and from one to three fireplaces, and three dwellings have central air conditioning. The comparables have improvement assessments ranging from $114,523 to $134,696 or from $28.49 to $37.73 per square foot of living area. The subject's improvement assessment is $103,776 or $39.70 per square foot of living area. Based on this evidence, the appellant requested that the subject's improvement assessment be reduced to $98,286 or $37.60 per square foot of living area.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" wherein the subject's final assessment of $141,156 was disclosed. The board of review presented descriptions and assessment information on four suggested comparable properties consisting of two-story dwellings of masonry construction. The comparable properties have the same assigned neighborhood and classification codes as the subject. One of the comparables is located on the same block as the subject, and another is on the same tax block as the subject. The dwellings are from 76 to 85 years old and contain from 2,404 to 2,827 square feet of living area. One dwelling has a full unfinished basement, and three have finished basements, either full or partial. Each comparable has a fireplace; three have garages; and one has central air conditioning. These properties have improvement assessments ranging from $104,460 to $125,643 or from $42.09 to $46.50 per square foot of living area. Based on this evidence, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

After reviewing the record and considering the evidence, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal. The Board further finds a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

The appellant contends unequal treatment in the subject's improvement assessment as the basis of the appeal. Taxpayers who object to an assessment on the basis of lack of uniformity bear the burden of proving the disparity of assessment valuations by clear and convincing evidence. Kankakee County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 131 Ill.2d 1 (1989). After an analysis of the assessment data, the Board finds the appellant has not met this burden.

Both parties presented assessment data on a total of nine suggested comparables. The appellant's comparables had from 16% to 69% more living area than the subject and, as a result, received reduced weight in the Board's analysis. The Board finds the comparables submitted by the board of review were most similar to the subject in size. They were also very similar in design, exterior construction, and age. Due to their similarities to the subject, these comparables received the most weight in the Board's analysis. These comparables had improvement assessments that ranged from $104,460 to $125,643 or from $42.09 to $46.50 per square foot of living area. The subject's improvement assessment of $103,776 or $39.70 per square foot of living area falls below the range established by the most similar comparables. After considering adjustments and the differences in both parties' comparables when compared to the subject, the Board finds the subject's improvement assessment is equitable and a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

The Board gave no weight to the appellant's contention of law argument because the appellant failed to cite supporting legal authority; the contention of law made in the record is not subservient and/or lacks clarity to challenge uniformity; and it is based on estimated market values and not active sales. The Board finds the subject's assessment is uniform after consideration of all of the comparables in the record.

The constitutional provision for uniformity of taxation and valuation does not require mathematical equality. The requirement is satisfied if the intent is evident to adjust the taxation burden with a reasonable degree of uniformity and if such is the effect of the statute enacted by the General Assembly establishing the method of assessing real property in its general operation. A practical uniformity, rather than an absolute one, is the test. Apex Motor Fuel Co. v. Barrett, 20 Ill. 2d 395 (1960). Although the comparables presented by the appellant disclosed that properties located in the same area are not assessed at identical levels, all that the constitution requires is a practical uniformity which appears to exist on the basis of the evidence. For the foregoing reasons, the Board finds that the appellant has not proven by clear and convincing evidence that the subject property is inequitably assessed. Therefore, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that the subject's assessment as established by the board of review is correct and no reduction is warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
