

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE DECISION
ILLINOIS PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD

APPELLANT: Teresa Giannini
DOCKET NO.: 10-32726.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 17-06-101-011-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Teresa Giannini, the appellant, by attorney Richard J. Caldarazzo of Mar Cal Law, P.C. in Chicago; and the Cook County Board of Review.

Based on the facts and exhibits presented, the Property Tax Appeal Board hereby finds no change in the assessment of the property as established by the Cook County Board of Review is warranted. The correct assessed valuation of the property is:

LAND: $14,250
IMPR.: $39,031
TOTAL: $53,281

Subject only to the State multiplier as applicable.

Statement of Jurisdiction

The appellant timely filed the appeal from a decision of the Cook County Board of Review pursuant to section 16-160 of the Property Tax Code (35 ILCS 200/16-160) challenging the assessment for the 2010 tax year. The Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of the appeal.

Findings of Fact

The subject property consists of a multi-family dwelling of masonry construction with 4,320 square feet of living area. The dwelling is 124 years old. The building has a full basement apartment. The property has a 3,000 square foot site and is located in Chicago, West Chicago Township, Cook County. The subject is classified as a class 2-11 apartment building under the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classification Ordinance.

The appellant's appeal is based on both overvaluation and unequal treatment in the assessment process regarding the subject's improvement assessment. The appellant did not contest the subject's land assessment.

In support of the overvaluation argument the appellant submitted an income approach to value the subject property using the subject's actual income and expenses. The income approach arrived at a market value for the subject property of $247,599.

In support of the improvement inequity argument, the appellant submitted information on three suggested comparable properties that range in size from 3,018 to 6,524 square feet of living area and range in age from 87 to 116 years old. The comparables have improvement assessments ranging from $7.95 to $8.34 per square foot of living area.

Based on this evidence, the appellant requested a reduction in the subject's assessment to $24,759.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" disclosing the total assessment for the subject of $53,281. The subject's assessment reflects a market value of $523,810 or $121.25 per square foot of living area, land included, when using the Cook County level of assessments for class 2 property of 10%.

The subject has an improvement assessment of $39,031 or $9.03 per square foot of living area.

In support of its contention of the correct assessment the board of review submitted information on 18 sales that occurred from June 1991 to March 2011 for prices ranging from $92,000 to $890,000.

In support of the subject's improvement assessment, the board of review submitted information on four suggested comparable properties that range in size from 3,800 to 4,560 square feet of living area and range in age from 111 to 131 years old. The comparables have improvement assessments ranging from $11.30 to $20.37 per square foot of living area.

Conclusion of Law

The appellant contends in part, that the market value of the subject property is not accurately reflected in its assessed valuation. When market value is the basis of the appeal the value of the property must be proved by a preponderance of the evidence. 86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.63(e). Proof of market value may consist of an appraisal of the subject property, a recent sale, comparable sales or construction costs. 86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.65(c). The Board finds the appellant did not meet this burden of proof and no reduction in the subject's assessment is warranted on grounds of overvaluation.

The Board finds the appellant's argument that the subject's assessment is excessive when applying an income approach based on the subject's actual income and expenses unconvincing and not supported by evidence in the record. In Springfield Marine Bank v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 44 Ill.2d 428 (1970), the court stated:

it is the value of the "tract or lot of real property" property which is assessed, rather than the value of the interest presently held. . . [R]ental income may of course be a relevant factor. However, it cannot be the controlling factor, particularly where it is admittedly misleading as to the fair cash value of the property involved. . . [E]arning capacity is properly regarded as the most significant element in arriving at "fair cash value".

Many factors may prevent a property owner from realizing an income from property, which accurately reflects its true earning capacity; but it is the capacity for earning income, rather than the income actually derived, which reflects "fair cash value" for taxation purposes. Id.

Actual expenses and income can be useful when shown that they are reflective of the market. The appellant did not demonstrate that the subject's actual income and expenses were reflective of the market. To demonstrate or estimate the subject's market value using an income approach, as the appellant attempted, one must establish through the use of market data the market rent, vacancy and collection losses, and expenses to arrive at a net operating income. Further, the appellant must establish through the use of market data a capitalization rate to convert the net income into an estimate of market value. The appellant did not follow this procedure in developing the income approach to value; therefore, the Property Tax Appeal Board gives this argument no weight.

The Board further finds that the board of review submitted information on apartment buildings from the subject's neighborhood and they ranged in price from $92,000 to $890,000. The subject's assessment reflects a market value of $523,810, which is within the range established by the comparable sales. Based on this record the Board finds the subject is not overvalued and a reduction in the subject's assessment is not appropriate.

The taxpayer also contends assessment inequity as an alternative basis of the appeal. When unequal treatment in the assessment process is the basis of the appeal, the inequity of the assessments must be proved by clear and convincing evidence. 86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.63(e). Proof of unequal treatment in the assessment process should consist of documentation of the assessments for the assessment year in question of not less than three comparable properties showing the similarity, proximity and lack of distinguishing characteristics of the assessment comparables to the subject property. 86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.65(b). The Board finds the appellant did not meet this burden of proof and a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

The Board finds the best evidence of assessment equity to be appellant comparable #3 and board of review comparables #2, #3 and #4. These comparables were most similar to the subject in age, size and other features including a basement apartment, like the subject. The Board gave less weight to the parties' remaining comparables due to their lack of a basement apartment, unlike the subject. The most similar comparables had improvement assessments that ranged from $8.34 to $12.63 per square foot of living area. The subject's improvement assessment of $9.03 per square foot of living area falls within the range established by the best comparables in this record. Based on this record the Board finds the appellant did not demonstrate with clear and convincing evidence that the subject's improvement was inequitably assessed and a reduction in the subject's assessment is not justified.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
