

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE DECISION
ILLINOIS PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD

APPELLANT: Thomas V. Lawless
DOCKET NO.: 12-21702.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 22-21-408-010-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Thomas V. Lawless, the appellant; and the Cook County Board of Review.

Based on the facts and exhibits presented, the Property Tax Appeal Board hereby finds no change in the assessment of the property as established by the Cook County Board of Review is warranted. The correct assessed valuation of the property is:

LAND: $ 3,450
IMPR.: $ 43,388
TOTAL: $ 46,838

Subject only to the State multiplier as applicable.

ANALYSIS

The subject property consists of a 23,000 square foot parcel of land improved with a 17-year old, two-story, frame and masonry, single-family dwelling. Amenities include: 3,767 square feet of living area, two full baths, a partial basement, and a two and one-half car garage. The appellant argued that the fair market value of the subject was not accurately reflected in its assessed value as the basis of the appeal.

In support of the market value argument, the appellant submitted an appraisal undertaken by Joseph Binder. The appraisal indicated an estimated market value of $360,000 as of an effective date of July 31, 2012. The appraisal report utilized the sales comparison approach to value to estimate the market value for the subject property.

Under the sales comparison approach, the appraiser analyzed the sales of three properties described as single-family dwellings located within a two-mile radius of the subject. They sold from February to July, 2012, for prices ranging from $108.54 to $142.61 per square foot of living area. The appraiser adjusted each of the comparables for pertinent factors. Based on the similarities and differences of the comparables when compared to the subject, the appraiser estimated a value for the subject under the sales comparison approach of $360,000.

At hearing, the appellant testified that he owns and occupies the subject property for approximately 21 years and is familiar with his neighborhood. He asserted that the sale properties used within his appraisal are not within his property's subdivision. He also stated that his property has no relation to the Cog Hill Country Club properties and that the board of review's properties are not located within his subdivision. Based upon this evidence and testimony, the appellant requested a reduction in the subject's assessment.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" wherein the subject's final assessment of $41,900 was disclosed. The subject's final assessment reflects a fair market value of $432,405 or $114.79 per square foot when the Illinois Department of Revenue's 2012 three-year median level of assessment of 9.69% for Cook County Class 2 properties is applied.

In support of the subject's assessment, the board of review presented descriptions, assessment and limited sales data on four properties suggested as comparable. The properties are described as two-story, masonry or frame and masonry, single-family dwellings. The properties range in improvement size from 3,176 to 3,782 square feet of living area and in improvement assessments from $9.49 to $13.82 per square foot of living area. The subject's improvement assessment is $10.21 per square foot.

Moreover, the properties sold from July, 2009, to October, 2011, for prices that ranged from $114.48 to $157.78 per square foot of living area. Based on this evidence, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

At hearing, the board of review's representative, Joe Powers, raised an objection to the appellant's appraisal because the appraiser was not present at the hearing to testify or be cross-examined; and therefore, he argued that the appraisal is hearsay. Also on this point, Powers requested that the Board not consider the raw sales data within the appraisal due to the lack of data regarding whether the sales were an arm's length transaction. Moreover, Powers requested the Board to take judicial notice of a Board decision on similar issues, while submitting a courtesy copy of said decision. Based upon this evidence, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

In rebuttal, the appellant testified that he is familiar with his neighborhood and that the board of review's properties all vary in improvement size and age in comparison to the subject, while properties #1, #3 and #4 are not located within the subject's subdivision. He stated that property #2 was located next to the subject's subdivision.

After reviewing the evidence and considering the testimony and/or arguments, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal.

When overvaluation is claimed the appellant has the burden of proving the value of the property by a preponderance of the evidence. National City Bank of Michigan/Illinois v. Illinois Property Tax Appeal Board, 331 Ill.App.3d 1038 (3rd Dist. 2002); Winnebago County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 313 Ill.App.3d 179 (2nd Dist. 2000). Proof of market value may consist of an appraisal, a recent arm's length sale of the subject property, recent sales of comparable properties, or recent construction costs of the subject property. 86 Ill.Admin.Code 1910.65(c). Having considered the market value evidence presented, the Board finds that the appellant did not meet this burden and that a reduction is not warranted.

In determining the fair market value of the subject property, the Board looks to the evidence and testimony presented by the parties.

The appellant's appraiser was not present at hearing to testify as to his qualifications, identify his work, testify about the contents of the evidence, the conclusions or be cross-examined by the board of review and the Board. In Novicki v. Department of Finance, 373 Ill.342, 26 N.E.2d 130 (1940), the Supreme Court of Illinois stated, "[t]he rule against hearsay evidence, that a witness may testify only as to facts within his personal knowledge and not as to what someone else told him, is founded on the necessity of an opportunity for cross-examination, and is basic and not a technical rule of evidence." Novicki, 373 Ill.

at 344. In Oak Lawn Trust & Savings Bank v. City of Palos Heights, 115 Ill.App.3d 887, 450 N.E.2d 788, 71 Ill.Dec. 100 (1st Dist. 1983) the appellate court held that the admission of an appraisal into evidence prepared by an appraiser not present at the hearing was in error. The appellate court found the appraisal to be hearsay that did not come within any exception to the hearsay rule, thus inadmissible against the defendant, and the circuit court erred in admitting the appraisal into evidence. Id.

In Jackson v. Board of Review of the Department of Labor, 105 Ill.2d 501, 475 N.E.2d 879, 86 Ill.Dec. 500 (1985), the Supreme Court of Illinois held that the hearsay evidence rule applies to the administrative proceedings under the Unemployment Insurance Act. The court stated, however, hearsay evidence that is admitted without objection may be considered by the administrative body and by the courts on review. Jackson 105 Ill.2d at 509. In the instant case, the board of review has objected to the appraisal as hearsay. Therefore, the Board finds the appraisal hearsay and the adjustments and conclusions of value are given no weight. However, the Board will consider the raw sales data submitted by the parties.

In totality, the parties submitted raw, unadjusted sales data on seven suggested comparables. The Board finds appellant's sales #1 and #3 as well as the board of review's sale #2 the most probative. These sales occurred from July, 2011, to July, 2012, for unadjusted prices ranging from $108.54 to $143.26 per square foot of living area. In comparison, the appellant's assessment reflects a market value of $114.79 per square foot of living area which is within the range established by the sales comparables. After considering adjustments and the differences in the comparables when compared to the subject, the Board finds the subject's per square foot assessment is supported and a reduction is not warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
