

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE DECISION
ILLINOIS PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD

APPELLANT: Yiannis Arbis
DOCKET NO.: 18-39259.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 13-12-233-034-1004

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Yiannis Arbis, the appellant, by attorney George N. Reveliotis, of Reveliotis Law, P.C. in Park Ridge, and the Cook County Board of Review.

Based on the facts and exhibits presented in this matter, the Property Tax Appeal Board hereby finds A Reduction in the assessment of the property as established by the Cook County Board of Review is warranted. The correct assessed valuation of the property is:

LAND: $3,206
IMPR.: $18,546
TOTAL: $21,752

Subject only to the State multiplier as applicable.

Statement of Jurisdiction

The appellant timely filed the appeal from a decision of the Cook County Board of Review pursuant to section 16-160 of the Property Tax Code (35 ILCS 200/16-160) challenging the assessment for the 2018 tax year. The Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of the appeal.

Findings of Fact

The subject property is a condominium unit located in a six-unit building located in Chicago, Jefferson Township, Cook County. The subject is classified as a class 2-99 property under the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classification Ordinance.

The taxpayer asserts that the market value of the subject property is not accurately reflected in its assessed valuation. The taxpayer submitted information on three suggested sales comparables in support of this argument.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" disclosing the total assessment for the subject of $22,074 and its Condominium Analysis Results for 2019. The subject property had an improvement assessment of $18,868. The subject property's assessment reflects a market value of $220,740 when using the Cook County Real Estate Classification Ordinance level of assessment for class 2 property of 10%.

In support of its contention of the correct assessment, the board of review submitted information on the same three suggested sales comparables that the appellant submitted. Those comparables formed the basis of the board of review's determination of the subject's assessment.

Conclusion of Law

The taxpayer asserted that the market value of the subject property is not accurately reflected in its assessed valuation. When market value is the basis of the appeal, the taxpayer must prove the value of the property by a preponderance of the evidence. 86 Ill. Admin. Code §1910.63(e); Winnebago County Bd. of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Bd., 313 Ill. App. 3d 1038, 1043 (2d Dist. 2000). Proof of market value may consist of an appraisal of the subject property, a recent sale, comparable sales or construction costs. 86 Ill. Admin. Code §1910.65(c). The Board finds the appellant met this burden of proof and a reduction in the subject's assessment on this basis is warranted.

The Board concludes that the best evidence of the subject's market value is the three sales comparables submitted by both appellant and the board of review. Each of these was a sale of a condominium unit in the same building as appellant's unit. In its determination of the proper assessment, the board of review added the total compensation from these three sales together, and the total was $577,028. The board of review also determined that the three condominium units together constituted a 47.75% interest in the building and calculated the full value of the six units in the building as $1,208,435. The board of review then multiplied this figure by the subject unit's 18% interest in the building as a whole and determined that the unit should be assessed at $21,752, reflecting a market value of $217,520, when using the Cook County Real Estate Classification Ordinance level of assessment for class 2 property of 10%. Due to an apparent mistake, however, the board of review's final decision dated April 1, 2019, did not change the assessor's original assessed value of $22,074.

The only argument that appellant raises is that the board of review should have adjusted the sales compensation downward by 6.67% to reflect that the three sales included some personal property that should not be taxed as real property. See Boone County Bd. of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Bd., 276 Ill. App. 3d 989, 997 (2d Dist. 1995). This would have resulted in an adjusted consideration value of $538,540, which would have lowered the total fair market value of the six units in the building to $1,127,833 and lowered the subject's assessed value to $20,301.

The problem with this argument is that the appellant failed to establish by a preponderance of the evidence that personal property was involved in the sales. In Illinois, real property includes, "the land itself, with all things contained thereon, and also all buildings, structures, and improvements, and other permanent fixtures thereon[.]" 35 ILCS 200/1-130. A fixture is considered real property because it is incorporated into or attached to the realty. A&A Market, Inc. v. Pekin Ins. Co., 306 Ill. App. 3d 485, 488 (1st Dist. 1999). The factors for determining whether property is personal or real are: 1) the nature of the attachment to the realty, 2) its adaptation to and necessity for the purpose or use to which the premises is devoted, and 3) whether it was intended that the item become part of the realty. Id.

Appellant's brief states that he submitted as evidence copies of MLS listings for the sales showing that personal property was involved. The listings for the sales contain items such as ovens, dishwashers, microwaves, refrigerators, disposals, and washer/dryers. But there is no evidence about whether or how those items are attached to the realty. Several of the items mentioned in the MLS listings are kitchen appliances that could be personal property if they are not attached to the realty but could be real property if they are attached. The MLS listings do not address the factors set forth above for determining whether property is real or personal. Furthermore, the appellant submitted no evidence about the value of these items to justify the 6.67% downward adjustment he sought.

Under these circumstances, appellant has failed to meet his burden of showing by a preponderance of the evidence that the subject property was overvalued to the extent that he suggests. As noted above, however, the board of review's own calculations indicate that the subject's assessed value was $21,752, not $22,074. The Board therefore finds that a reduction in the subject's assessed value to that extent is warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code. Pursuant to Section 1910.50(d) of the rules of the Property Tax Appeal Board (86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.50(d)) the proceeding before the Property Tax Appeal Board is terminated when the decision is rendered. The Property Tax Appeal Board does not require any motion or request for reconsideration.
