

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE DECISION
ILLINOIS PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD

APPELLANT: Erwin Dornseifer
DOCKET NO.: 20-40815.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 14-20-100-002-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Erwin Dornseifer, the appellant(s), by attorney Stephanie Park, of Park & Longstreet, P.C. in Inverness; and the Cook County Board of Review.

Based on the facts and exhibits presented in this matter, the Property Tax Appeal Board hereby finds A Reduction in the assessment of the property as established by the Cook County Board of Review is warranted. The correct assessed valuation of the property is:

LAND: $14,400
IMPR.: $60,600
TOTAL: $75,000

Subject only to the State multiplier as applicable.

Statement of Jurisdiction

The appellant timely filed the appeal from a decision of the Cook County Board of Review pursuant to section 16-160 of the Property Tax Code (35 ILCS 200/16-160) challenging the assessment for the 2020 tax year. The Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of the appeal.

Findings of Fact

The subject property consists of a three-story, mixed-use building of masonry construction with 4,761 square feet of building area. The building is 106 years old. The property has a 2,250 square foot site located in Lake View Township, Cook County. The property is a class 2-12 property under the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classification Ordinance.

The appellant contends overvaluation and assessment equity as the bases of the appeal. In support of the market value argument the appellant submitted an appraisal estimating the subject property had a market value of $75,000 as of January 1, 2018. In support of the equity argument the appellant submitted four comparable properties that had improvement assessments that ranged from $7.91 to $13.25 per square foot of building area. In addition, the appellant requested a post-covid market value reduction. In support of this argument, the appellant cited several executive orders and Cook County covid policies and stated the subject should receive vacancy relief.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" disclosing the total assessment for the subject of $86,162. The subject's assessment reflects a market value of $861,620 or $180.97 per square foot of building area, including land, when applying the 2020 level of assessment for class 2 property under the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classification Ordinance of 10%. The subject has an improvement assessment of $71,762, or $15.07 per square foot of building area. In support of its contention of the correct assessment the board of review submitted four equity comparables that had improvement assessments that ranged from $16.79 to $18.64 per square foot of building area.

Conclusion of Law

The Property Tax Appeal Board will apply its discretion to liberally interpret the appellant's contention of law argument and interpret it as a lack of uniformity claim. The burden for this claim is controlled by Section 10-15 of the Illinois Administrative Procedure Act (5- ILCS 100/10-15) provides:

Standard of proof. Unless otherwise provided by law or stated in the agency's rules, the standard of proof in any contested case hearing conducted under this Act by an agency shall be the preponderance of the evidence.

As outlined in this decision and contrary to the assertions of the appellant's counsel, the published documentation issued by the Cook County Assessor's Office related to the COVID-19 Adjustments specifies that not every property would or should expect an assessment reduction and the application of "relief," if any, was tied to area market sales data for each property. Therefore, while the documentary record establishes that the Cook County Assessor undertook an analysis in 2020 as to whether the pandemic resulted in economic effects upon both single-family residential, condominium, and commercial properties, the Board finds that the appellant's submission does not establish the claim made by the appellant, specifically, "that every property in Cook County received a COVID Adjustment reduction" or that the subject was treated unequally based on the pandemic. To put it another way, the evidence submitted by the appellant indicates that the Assessor examined market data to determine if the values of individual property(s) were negatively affected by COVID-19 based on unemployment data; and if so, adjust its assessment to reflect the market. The Board further finds that the evidence does not establish that the Assessor granted a blanket COVID-19 downward adjustment to all properties similarly situated to the subject while, at the same time, excluding the subject property from that blanket adjustment. Nor has the appellant established that the Assessor neglected to analyze the pandemic's effect on the subject property. Furthermore, the appellant has failed to establish that the basis upon which the Cook County COVID-19 adjustment was determined, i.e., unemployment data, was not uniformly applied.

Furthermore, the Board finds the appellant did not submit any substantive evidence of whether the subject property merits an assessment reduction due to COVID-19. The Board considers an assessment appeal without reference to any assumptions and conclusions made by another agency. "Under the principles of a de novo proceeding, the Property Tax Appeal Board shall not presume the action of the board of review or the assessment of any local assessing officer to be correct.” 86 Ill. Admin. Code §1910.63(a). There is no presumption of correctness accorded to an original assessment or that of a board of review. Western Illinois Power Cooperative, Inc. v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 29 Ill.App.3d 16, 22 (4th Dist. 1975). “Under the scheme created by the Property Tax Code statute for the Property Tax Appeal Board, an appeal to the Board does not afford taxpayers the right to request that a higher authority rule upon the correctness of a lower authority's findings. Rather, it affords taxpayers and taxing bodies a ‘second bite at the apple,’ i.e., an opportunity to have assessments recomputed by a reviewing authority whose power is not circumscribed by any previous assessment.” LaSalle Partners v. Illinois Property Tax Appeal Board, 269 Ill.App.3d 621, 629 (2nd Dist. 1995).

To the extent the appellant requests that the PTAB grant it relief based on the COVID-19 pandemic, the Property Tax Appeal Board distinguishes between a request for relief just because the pandemic occurred (“COVID Relief”) and a request based on the pandemic’s effect on market conditions, or the income-producing capacity of a given property. The former would only require the appellant to show that the pandemic occurred, not that the pandemic affected or contributed to changes in the relevant market or other factors related to the property’s assessment. The latter would require the appellant to meet its burden to provide substantive evidence or legal argument sufficient to challenge the property’s assessment.

As an administrative agency, the Property Tax Appeal Board only has the authority that the General Assembly confers on it by statute. Spiel v. Property Tax Appeal Bd., 309 Ill. App. 3d 373, 378 (2d Dist. 1999). Consequently, to the extent that the PTAB acts outside its statutory authority, it acts without jurisdiction. See Bd. of Educ. of City of Chicago v. Bd. of Trustees of Pub. Sch. Teachers’ Pension & Ret. Fund of Chicago, 395 Ill. App. 3d 735, 739–40 (1st Dist. 2009). The Board has no statutory authority to reduce assessments solely because the pandemic occurred (i.e., to grant “COVID Relief”). However, if an appellant presents evidence demonstrating the pandemic resulted in or contributed to a reduction in the subject property’s assessment, that may serve as the basis for a reduction. However, the appellant is not entitled to a reduction just because the pandemic occurred.

The appellant failed to present reliable evidence to support the argument that COVID-19 affected the value of the subject. Consequently, it is impossible to conclude the subject property was not uniformly assessed due to COVID-19 or its market value adversely affected to any extent. In this matter, the appellant is pursuing neither of these bases for COVID-19 relief.

Instead, the appellant has taken a broad brush to the actions of the Cook County Assessor regarding 2020 assessments and concluded erroneously that every property was afforded a COVID-19 Adjustment. The Board finds the appellant’s request in this appeal for an assessment reduction solely based on a claim that the assessor uniformly issued COVID-19 reduction is wholly without merit in light of the publications provided by the appellant from the county assessor’s office. This assertion by the appellant is simply false.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Throughout the publications of the Cook County Assessor issuance of COVID-19 Adjustments were phrased in terms of “when warranted”; based on our Data Science team’s estimates of local changes in unemployment; and “not necessarily” was there a guarantee that a reduction would issue to a given property.

The appellant contends the market value of the subject property is not accurately reflected in its assessed valuation. When market value is the basis of the appeal the value of the property must be proved by a preponderance of the evidence. 86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.63(e). Proof of market value may consist of an appraisal of the subject property, a recent sale, comparable sales or construction costs. 86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.65(c). The Board finds the appellant met this burden of proof and a reduction in the subject's assessment is warranted.

The Board finds the best evidence of market value to be the appraisal submitted by the appellant. The subject's assessment reflects a market value above/below the best evidence of market value in the record. The Board finds the subject property had a market value of $750,000 as of the assessment date at issue. Since market value has been established the 2020 level of assessment for class 2 property under the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classification Ordinance of 10% shall apply. (86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.50(c)(2)). After this reduction, the Board finds the subject's assessment is equitably assessed based on the eight comparable properties in the record.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code. Pursuant to Section 1910.50(d) of the rules of the Property Tax Appeal Board (86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.50(d)) the proceeding before the Property Tax Appeal Board is terminated when the decision is rendered. The Property Tax Appeal Board does not require any motion or request for reconsideration.
