Statement of Jurisdiction

The appellant timely filed the appeal from a decision of the Cook County Board of Review pursuant to section 16-160 of the Property Tax Code (35 ILCS 200/16-160) challenging the assessment for the 2020 tax year. The Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of the appeal.

Findings of Fact

The subject property consists of 26 residential parking spaces located in a 12-year-old building of masonry construction. The subject is part of a residential condominium building that contains 266 residential condominium units and 303 parking spaces. The property is situated on 125,594 square feet of land in North Chicago Township, Cook County. It is a Class 2-99 property under the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classification Ordinance.

The appellant contends overvaluation as the basis of the appeal. The appellant submitted a brief in which it disclosed the history of all parking spaces. In 2013, RMW Streeterville, LLC, the appellant herein, purchased the parking spaces in a bulk sale. The appellant had not leased the parking spaces from the bulk sale through the 2019 lien year because they would have been intermingled with and accessible to adjacent residential units. Since 2020, the appellant leased 12 of those parking spaces. The remaining 14 units remained vacant through 2020. In support of this argument, the appellant submitted information on four suggested comparable sales of parking spaces in the market area and affidavits.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" disclosing the total assessment for the subject of $138,008. The subject's assessment reflects a market value of $1,380,080 when applying the 2020 level of assessment of 10.00% for Class 2 property under the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classification Ordinance. In support of its contention of the correct assessment, the board of review submitted a condominium analysis with information on suggested comparable sales for 113 units in the building. Some of these units were for parking spaces, others for residential units. These units sold from 2017 through 2020 for a total consideration of $42,862,808. The units sold comprised 23.0112% the common elements of the building. The result was a full value of the property at $186,269,329.

Conclusion of Law

The appellant contends the market value of the subject property is not accurately reflected in its assessed valuation. When market value is the basis of the appeal the value of the property must be proved by a preponderance of the evidence. 86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.63(e). Proof of market value may consist of an appraisal of the subject property, a recent sale, comparable sales or construction costs. 86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.65(c). The Board finds the appellant did not meet this burden of proof and a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted.

At least three of the four suggested sale properties submitted by the appellant were from outside the subject's building. No reliable information about the dimensions, ownership of common elements, location within their buildings or specific conditions was submitted about any of the suggested sale properties. Meaningful comparisons are not possible with the evidence submitted. Although the appellant supplied explanations of why these parking spaces were not leased, the analysis before the Board is potential gross revenues. See Springfield Marine Bank v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 44 Ill.2d 428 (1970).

The Board finds the best evidence of market value to be the board of review comparable sales of parking spaces as disclosed in its condominium analysis. These sales data came with common elements ownership percentages of units in the subject's building. They establish the 26-unit subject was not overvalued. Based on this evidence, the Board finds a reduction in the subject's assessment is not justified.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code. Pursuant to Section 1910.50(d) of the rules of the Property Tax Appeal Board (86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.50(d)) the proceeding before the Property Tax Appeal Board is terminated when the decision is rendered. The Property Tax Appeal Board does not require any motion or request for reconsideration.
