Statement of Jurisdiction

The appellant timely filed the appeal from a decision of the Cook County Board of Review pursuant to section 16-160 of the Property Tax Code (35 ILCS 200/16-160) challenging the assessment for the 2024 tax year. The Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of the appeal.

Findings of Fact

The subject property consists of a 122-year-old, masonry, multi-story, eight-unit, condominium building. The property is located in Chicago, Lake View Township, Cook County and is classified as a class 2-99 property under the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classification Ordinance.

The appellant contends overvaluation as the basis of appeal. In support of this argument, the appellant submitted the sale of five units within the subject's building. These units sold from March 2021 to November 2023 for an aggregate price of $1,816,500. This price was divided by the percentage of ownership of units sold of 62.98% to arrive at a value for the building of $2,884,249. The appellant multiplied this value by each units' percentage of ownership to arrive at a value for each unit and then made a 10% deduction to these values to account for personal property. The appellant included RealInfo datasheets for four of these comparables. These datasheets list the sale of parcels ending in -1001, -1003, -1005, and -1006. The appellant's grid lists the sales for parcel -1004 which has a different percentage of ownership that what the datasheets show.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" disclosing the subject's assessment of $231,991 which reflects a market value of $2,319,910 when using the level of assessment for class 2 property of 10% under the Cook County Real Property Assessment Classification Ordinance.

In support of its current assessment, the board of review submitted the sale of five units within subject's building. These units sold from March 2021 to November 2023 for an aggregate price of $1,816,499. Dividing this price by the aggregate percentage of ownership of the units that sold of 61.73% reflects a market value for the whole building of $2,942,652. The board of review included the same five sales as the appellant's evidence.

Conclusion of Law

The taxpayer contends overvaluation as the basis of the appeal. When market value is the basis of the appeal the value of the property must be proved by a preponderance of the evidence.86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.63(e). Proof of market value may consist of an appraisal of the subject property, a recent sale, comparable sales or construction costs. 86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.65(c).

The Board finds the best evidence of market value to be the sales submitted by both parties, but the percentage of ownership as listed by the board of review. These five sales sold from March 2021 to November 2023 for an aggregate price of $1,816,499 with an aggregate percentage of ownership of 61.73%. Dividing this price by the percentage of ownership results in a market value for the building of $2,942,652 which is above the market value of the subject as reflected by the current assessments. The Board gives no weight to the appellant's deduction for personal property as there is no evidence to support this. After reviewing the record, the Board finds the appellant has not proven by a preponderance of evidence that the subject was overvalued, and a reduction based on this is not warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board which is subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code. Pursuant to Section 1910.50(d) of the rules of the Property Tax Appeal Board (86 Ill.Admin.Code §1910.50(d)) the proceeding before the Property Tax Appeal Board is terminated when the decision is rendered. The Property Tax Appeal Board does not require any motion or request for reconsideration.
